Naivete

*In the beginning it was bright and new.
As it grew it became confused, dizzy, and aimless.
The confusion remained constant for a long time,
But it sought the truth.
Slowly the confusion dimmed.
A new light flickered.
It followed the light
Before it slept forever.
It was bright and new –
Again*

Strings

*Strings, held taut above the sculptured body,
Govern every shift of the numb, jointed limbs
Even the movements of the hard, wooden head
Are controlled by the dictating cords,
Held by any child*

*Children adore this plaything
For the "wonderful" things it can do
Walk, run, fall and rise,
Stomp, hit, stab, kill,
All at the simple twitch of their fingertips.*

*Along the beach, I often think
I understand very little in life DEATH . . . LOVE . . . HATE . . . escape my immature wisdom hate probable . . . death inevitable and yet why? . . . Who am I? . . . someone seems to know . . . for the sea has erased my footsteps in the sand . . .*

*And the time rushes in and out Summer comes, with bright flowers and hot days
 And the tide rushes in and out
 Then Fall arrives and leaves die, the wind rushes hard
 And the tide rushes in and out
 The land is cold and white, all is desolate – winter
 And the tide rushes in and out
 A new life comes – rebirth – all is fresh – Spring is here
 And the tide continues*

Snowdrifts

*Out on the field,
 Stretching across the prairie

 Flawless,
 Perfectly white
 With needles of Color Shining*

*The darkness

 On Them*

*And Taking
 Their flawlessness
 Home on his boots
 But that is not bad
 The wind can mend that
 But
 What mends it
 When it melts?*

Confusion

*Often my mind is caught in a whirlpool
 It goes around and around until I am nauseated,
 There seems to be an epidemic of confusion
 With millions contaminated, many are beyond hope*

*If you ask why
 "Naughty, naughty, musn't deviate from the facts
 Try and find out why – and you will be Squelched, silenced for good*

*Don't ask why we study something, just do it
 "Why everyone knows that's a good book"
 Who are you to say a classic is worthless,
 "How can you be so impudent, you fool . . ."*

*History is a vicious circle going round and round.
Learn to accept the monotony of life
to which you are eternally bound!*

*Birth exists, death exists – giving to life but what it can . . .

Could God be leading this perilous trip or is it only man?*

WHY?

*Why is there war?
Can't there be peace?
Things we adore,
Soon all will cease*

*When will it end?
No one can know.
Which way to bend?
Which way to go?*

Liz Croizer

Nancy Davis

*I wish that everytime
I pick up a newspaper
there wasn't death . . .*

Is man so preoccupied with his own destruction . . . ?

*Wouldn't it be nice if . . .
Romeo and Juliet had lived?*

. . . and if Macbeth Hadn't reigned, and happiness had, in his stead . . .

A dog just kissed me, why would an animal love man? Because he had the imagination to invent his purpose, his gods . . . ?

*I wish that everytime I pick up a paper there was an answer . . .
. God?*

Mark Keller

*Where in God's name am I?
Who knows, who cares.
Why not get off?
No. That's the easy way out
Well – join the Air Force
That's for me. Train, drill,
Learn to kill legally, eat,
Sleep, don't give a damn about Anything. Go to Viet Nam,
Kill for awhile,
Then get killed.
Then maybe, who knows –
I might find a meaning in life,
If there is one*

MY FIRST SHAVE

A few years back, while looking into a mirror, I came across a stray hair on my clean face. Excitedly, I called my father and with a squinty eye he found a few more which I had overlooked. Looking at me he said, "Well, son it looks like it's time for your first shave." Proudly, I took out his razor, dampened my face, and smeared the white shaving cream on just about every spot on my face and neck. I made clean swift strokes and the shaving cream came off ever so easily. When I had finished, I cleaned the sink and washed the razor blade. That was a big accomplishment in my "growing up", and my scars are almost gone now.

FARMER'S LAMENT

I'm up at 5, and off to fight the earth -- to strain and toil
My life's reward's suppose to be this food
I raise from soil,
And so I scrape from sun to sun, my oxen and my plow,
And irrigate these fields by hand -- sweat pouring off my brow
And in the Fall I reap my crop, and send it off to you,
And hope for prices to be high to pay me back my due;
But prices drop and I'm forgot -- you pay me no regard -- I think I do too damn much work
for not enough reward'

Who'll try to keep me down
When I'm sitting in the grass Alone, my mind soaring?
I think of long times past
And the peace and tranquility
Of nature.
The daisy, simple but bright,
Stares with its uplift face
Into mine
The sun drops rain on my fingers.
Not wet, but warm. As I Pick the flower of simplicity
And begin, "he loves me, he loves me not Then I say to myself, that
It is just a stupid flower
That it could not really know.
And I throw it on the ground,
And run

TROUBLEMAKER

The afternoon announcements ended with a curious request. Something about staying away from the lunchroom garbage cans. Strange.

In the office, the principal gravely replaced the microphone on its hook and turned to the despondent seventh grader sitting in the office chair.

"Now explain again how he got away," he urged the boy.

"I was keeping him in my lunch sack while I ate and I forgot he was in it when I threw it in the garbage can," the boy whimpered.

"Just what kind of snake was it, Joey?" The principal was plainly worried.

"It's brown and black. He isn't very big."

"That helps." The principal was trying his best to keep from getting angry as he paced back and forth. "Weren't you just in here the day before yesterday for something?"

"Yes sir," the boy answered quietly.

"Fighting, wasn't it?"

"Yes, sir."

The principal threw up his hands and walked out the door and down the hallway towards the lunchroom.

When he was alone, Joey's sober expression became a wide grin. He wasn't really worried. He enjoyed giving the principal gray hairs. That's why he had made up this story about a snake. Letting snakes loose in school is much worse than fighting. They'd never find out that there wasn't a snake in the garbage can.

Alone in the office, still smiling, Joey reached in his coat pocket and removed a small gray mouse. As he opened the principal's top desk drawer, he instructed it, "You stay in here for awhile."

The Sherman Log staff of 1969-70 dedicates this yearbook to man's first walk on the moon.

LOG STAFF

THE SHERMAN LOG

The Sherman Log, our yearbook, has been a tradition at Forrest Sherman High School for many years. It was begun by Miss Doris Darnell over ten years ago when the high school and the elementary school were combined in the present elementary school building.

When the Log was introduced into Forrest Sherman High, the school was then operating under the Department of the Navy. The school, itself, was named after Admiral Forrest Sherman. The USS Forrest Sherman, also a namesake of the Admiral, has visited port here in Naples many times and has often asked students from the school to come aboard for visits. The Log seemed like an ideal name for our yearbook when compared to the log of a ship that seeks to record all events taking place aboard that ship. The Log has strived, each year, to present a complete picture of all events and activities here at Forrest Sherman in much the same manner. This year is no exception.

We, the Log Staff of 1970, have tried to capture the '69-70 school year for you through a variety of ways. We have candid and posed pictures, creative writings and poetry by Sherman students, and completely new layout and design. New innovations were introduced by your staff this year including state-side printing with American Yearbook, sixteen pages of colored paper blending with the cover, a school introduction section, an art and literary section, and a summer supplement. We are very proud of this edition, the tradition behind the Log, and of the school, Forrest Sherman High. We hope you enjoy it.

CLASSES

SENIORS DEFINE UTOPIA . . .

William Edward Anderson
. . . a place in which there is no crime, no law and no restrictions.

Phyllis Jean Absher
. . . a big garden with a lot of candy trees and every time you take off a piece another one comes.

Nancy Claire Blades
. . . everything corny without being corny. A smiling hello from everybody to everyone.

Mary Frances Brown
. . . a land of beautiful, big castles, where everybody is rich and there is peace.

Elizabeth Jane Burger
. . . a big cloud in which all my friends and relatives are sitting around watching me.

Robert Vincent Clarke

. . . a place where life goes on all the time and never stops. It is like a motorcycle, which everyone rides and never gets off.

Bruce Conway Clark

. . . where you do what you want and you have the means to do it.

Elizabeth Ann Crotzer

. . . peace and quiet; it would have no crime or punishment, and everyone would live in harmony and friendship.

Michael Eugene Clay

. . . having a surplus of leisure time with nothing to do.

Gelsa Anna Maria Coppola

. . . a big happy family, joined together for the benefit of the other. It is a place where hate, jealousy, avidity, etc. do not exist.

David Niles DeBevoise
 . . . an ideal, if there is more than one individual inhabiting the face of the earth. Human nature, being as it is, will always defeat human ideals.

Christopher Dieter
 . . . have ducks all around you.

Joyce Elizabeth Douglas
 . . . a huge wooded area with sprawling green fields where all men live without sin or crime.

Claudia Anne Douglas
 . a wonderful place where everyone is young and beautiful.

Kristina Sue Farrington
 . . a land of gardens and green fields of flowers and grass.

Betty Ruth Farquhar
 . . . when the everyday tasks
 no longer seem to be common place. It is when one is in love.

Mark Allan Freeman
 . . . Heaven is a place to be when Denise is with me.

Gary David Garbin
 . . . a place where you are free to do anything you want.

Robert Alexander Gibbs
 . . . to be walking alone along a path in the hills on a windy, overcast winter day.

Daniel Woodbury Gleason
 . a sky full of little clouds floating around. On the clouds there are little angels running around.

Mary Tyler Gilchrist
 . . . a world similar to the biblical Garden of Eden, where man is as innocent as the day he is born.

Margaret Ruth Grojean
 . . . somewhere where my family is. A place where all of us could be together with the idea of NEVER being separated again.

Paulette Joan Harker
 . . . being with someone you love for one full day on green grassy hills covered with trees to climb or lie under.

Deborah Lee Hershberger
 . . . one huge street of cobbled clouds.

Brenda Darlene Hunter
 . . . a place where each able man can live off his own produce.

Lisa Ann Heverly
 . . . beautiful scenery and people walking around -- but they don't talk. They just think all day.

Mark Stephen Keller
 . . . a gate 50 yards high, with a little old man tending it, with a key bigger than himself.

Cynthia Kim Keels
 . . . music -- either dancing to soul music or singing in a folk music festival.

Duncan Eric Johnson
 . . . is that great B&D Club in the sky. An endless supply of cigarettes, beer and wine. A girl on your arm and friends all around.

Brian Fredrick Kelley
 . . . lying in the sand on a large beach with nothing to do but th...

Karen Ann Kirkland
 . . the goodness of all things.

Kenneth Kobrin
 . . . Peace.

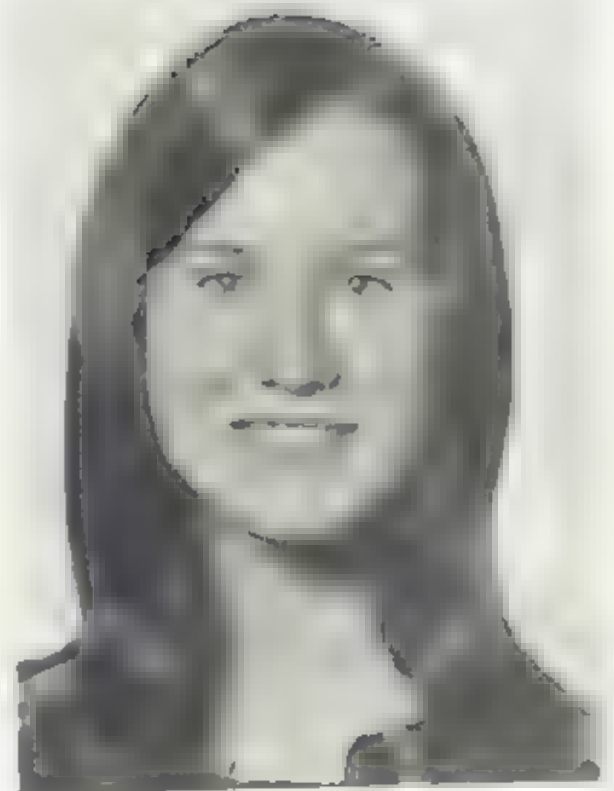

Robert Lane Lewellyn
 . a place without worry or responsibility.

Beverly Ann Letten
 . . . being alone in a house
 surrounded by music.

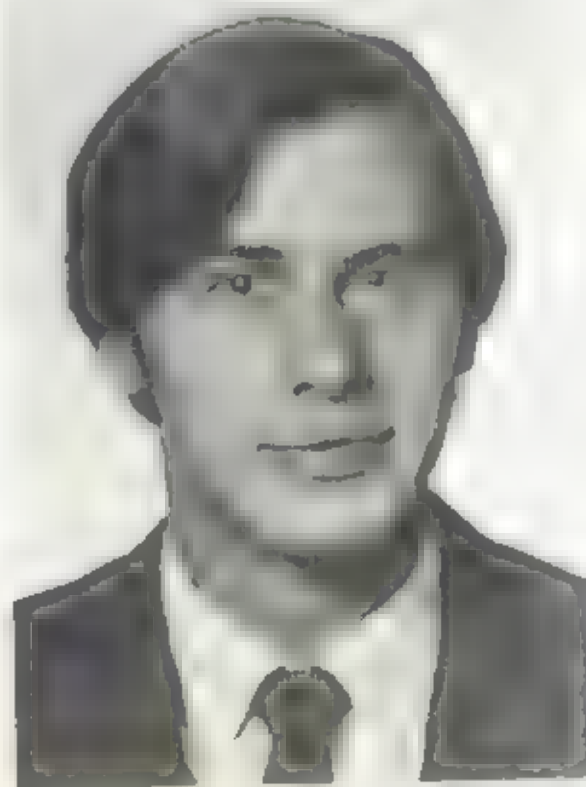

Maria GERALYN MAZZI
 . . . splendid radiating gold and white city upon a cloud overlooking a green world. Doves fly around and music is heard eternally.

STEVEN CRAIG MONTROSE
 . . . is my ideal of happiness, a beautiful world without war, without strike, where knowledge and the secrets of the universe are known.

KATHERINE JEAN MALNERICH
 . . . Heaven is a place where man is happy because he has accepted the need for compromise to solve problems.

STEPHEN DANIEL MUNDY
 . . . riding down the road with ten mille in your back pocket.

PAUL FRANK MOSHER
 . . . a place where I can have whatever I want whenever I want it and where I can feel any feeling I wish to have.

Lynn Nelson
 . . . being alone and not being lonely. Indulging in one's happiness.

Noble Elroy Naylor

Ruby Jane Ownby
 . . . Sitting in bed with your husband at twilight and eating oranges, talking about childhood memories.

Michael J. Rhodes

Francisco Quibael
 . . . driving a cycle between three and six in the morning.

Lorynn Denise Riggins
 . . . I sleep with visions of sugar-plums dancing in my head. All is well. External solitude with none but the pleasantest of thoughts.

Randall Lee Sinnott
 . . . a complete lack of responsibility.

Mark Andrew Smith
 . . . soft music and soft thoughts flowing through one's mind while lying in the forest with a soft rain and the soft body of your love.

Deborah Lynn Strickland
 . . . a place where no one is higher up than another; everyone is equal. Where everyone is one color so there is no discrimination.

John Reese Thomas
 . . . a land in which all men love each other and themselves, and all things in the world.

Earl Thomas Tighe
... a great big folk music happening. The entire scene would be a poem of love and song.

Sean Michael Wachutka
... being able to go fishing or skiing anytime I want.

Steven Patrick Woods
... to be with a person you love

SOPHOMORE CLASS

Because of the great enthusiasm shown by our Sophomore class, we have received acclaim in many areas. As well as sponsoring a successful Sadie Hawkin's Dance, we won a number of spirit contests, effigy and hall decorations for homecoming, the presentation award at the Christmas assembly, and the hat contest during the basketball season. With this Spirit of '72" We shall continue to be a winning class.

ACTIVITIES
FEATURES

STUDENT COUNCIL

The purpose of the S.C.A. is to plan activities, and sponsor the ones that pertain to the S.C.A. itself. The S.C.A. also presents the students' wants and desires to the administration.

Each member must show leadership and must be elected from his class either as President, Vice-President, Secretary, Treasurer or S.C.A. representative.

The S.C.A. is involved in many activities. Some of these thus far have been the "Welcome Aboard" dance, football homecoming, Christmas decorations, and assemblies.

Events to come: Valentine's Dance (basketball)
Carnival
Honors Day
S.C.A. Assemblies

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Membership in the National Honor Society is established on a basis of faculty selection from among candidates who have maintained a 3.0 or better grade average during their entire high school careers. In addition to scholarship, criteria for admission to the Society include superiority in character, leadership and service. Elections to the society are held twice annually. In keeping with Society philosophy, members of the NHS select service projects each year, such as sponsorship of college night, tutoring service or student-administration liaison committees. This year's emphasis was on student-faculty relations. A Society for members and their parents climaxed the year's activities.

INTERNATIONAL THESPIAN SOCIETY

The International Thespian Society is an educational honor and service organization of teachers and students, established for the advancement of dramatic arts in secondary schools. The International Thespian Society at Forrest Sherman holds its formal annual induction at the close of the school year. At this time, a chosen few who have worked hard and shown interest in the various projects of the dramatic arts club are awarded Thespian membership. This year, in addition to the traditional full-length play, the Thespian Society and the Drama Club presented a series of one-act plays.

RADIO CLUB

MODERN MUSIC MASTERS

The French Club took a dramatic turn this year. Beginning meetings with selected poetry and prose, the fifteen students went into full production by presenting the Moliere comedy "L'amour medicin" to four separate audiences. Those members of the club who persisted developed a fuller appreciation of the French arts. On the lighter side were soirees, games, and movies, also, of course, in French. To complete a full year of activity, a week in Paris was planned for late Spring-early summer.

The Latin Club at press time, has many activities planned for the second semester. Among them are trips to EUR in Rome, Vesuvius, and Herculaneum. Also among plans is a joint "Feste" with the French Club for a banque

LETTERMEN

The Lettermen club membership is restricted to athletes awarded a Varsity letter at Forrest Sherman. These students also must be accepted by the club. Being a member of this club is the goal of most athletes at FSHS as it allows them to buy and wear letter jackets with their school and letter attached.

JUNIOR HIGH ACTIVITIES

NATIONAL JUNIOR HONOR SOCIETY

Every year students are elected to this national society on the basis of excellence in Scholarship, Leadership, Character, and Service. Those students who fulfill the scholarship requirement by being on the school Honor Roll for three consecutive marking periods are further evaluated by the faculty on the remaining three requirements. The induction ceremony was held in March.

The Junior High Student Council is a legislature, elected by the Junior High Students to act on behalf of the Junior High.

The Junior High S.C.A. has very little authority and it takes the cooperation of the students, the faculty and the groups who plan school-wide contests and activities, as well as the cooperation of both the representatives and officers of the Junior High Student Council itself, in order to function efficiently.

The Top Floor Topics, planned and edited by a junior high school staff, is a monthly publication designed to inform and amuse its readers.

The newspaper is operated for the purpose of the students' entertainment, rather than as a school profit
making organization.
All interested Junior High students are welcome to contribute to and work on the
TOP FLOOR TOPICS.

ARCHEOLOGY CLUB

The primary purpose of the Archaeology club is to explore, study, and visit the many archaeological sites in and around the Naples area.

The club is an affiliate of the International Archaeology Society and collaborates with the Society in its current excavation project at Liternum, a small, partly excavated town of the Comperia area, that had its earliest beginnings probably during the Etruscan period.

Other projects include the dating and the recording of finds at the workshop of the Society on the NATO base. The club also maintains a small museum in the library of the school.

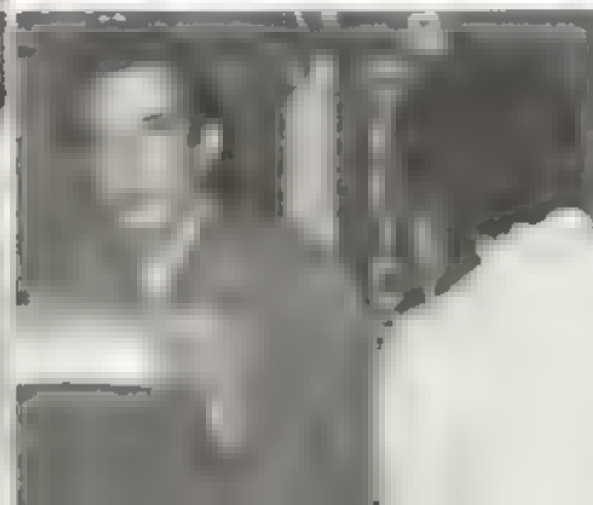

The club meets every Wednesday for discussion of new finds, to hear guest speakers, and reports on Archaeological subjects from the members themselves. Field trips are planned for Capua, Baia, and the Naples Archaeology Museum.

President: Michael Fritz
Vice President: Mary Childers
Treasurer: Wayne McQueen
Secretary: Karen Childers

OFFICE WORKERS

The officer workers, volunteers, work in the front administration office one period a day each. They are a great help to the secretaries and principals. They consist of Paulette Harker, Kelly Colenda, Peggy Grojean, Angie Leonardi, Candy Leonardi, Bobbie Seals, Patty Suhay, Frank Quibael, and Ken Kobrin.

They also perform at home football, basketball games and pep rallies. The other three members are Paulette Kemitch, Laura Shivar, and Gina Van Baskirk.

DRILL TEAM AND

The Drill Team is composed of twenty-three girls under the leadership of Captain Rose Rice and Co-Captain Laurie Chapman. They perform at the home football and basketball games and pep rallies. Other functions include baking cookies for the team; selling pennants, flowers, stickers, tote bags, etc. at the games and act as the pep club. The members are: Phyllis Absher, Tonna Collins, Rhonda Connolly, Lois David, Joan Delaney, Vicki Eaton, Tracy Grosser, Geri Halladay, Paulette Harker, Pam Hillard, Betty May, Maria Mazzi, Debbie Moss, Christie Mourning, Becky Proietti, Martha Rios, Maria Ross, Mary Scepanski, Stephanie Stone, Kathi Thomas, Anna Thurber, Lisa White, and Marlene Womack.

CHRISTMAS ACTIVITIES

The Christmas Season at Forrest Sherman began with a tea for the faculty given by the Senior Class. Then came the Christmas Ball, also sponsored by the Seniors. Each class put up Christmas hall decorations during the week before Christmas vacation. Many students participated in the oratorio, "The Messiah". The Christmas activities were highlighted by the annual Christmas Assembly.

FOOTBALL

The Wildcats broke even this year in games won and lost. Vicenza defeated the Wildcat squad twice -- but by a much smaller margin in the last game. Of special note this year was the strong driving in all games. This can be credited to the offensive squad under the supervision of Coach Dayton.

It's time to put aside a little money every month . . . it can be as little as 10 cents a day . . . for a new opportunity not for you to improve a developed area . . . but for you to build a new one . . . the potential of the Mackle Bros. is to build the future its own bond of excellence in Florida building.

IN FLORIDA'S "LAND OF 3 SEASONS"
. . . ONE SUCCESS FOLLOWS ANOTHER

Now in 1982 MACKLE BROS. OPEN THE COM-MUNITY OF DELTONA. Deltona is a vibrant and thriving community with a comprehensive and central water supply providing the ever-growing city with a clean and pure water supply. Deltona today, since 1968, has been a "model city" and a "vibrant community of over 6,000 happy residents in over 2,800 homes.

Now in 1982 MACKLE BROS. OPEN SPRING HILL. Spring Hill is a vibrant and thriving community with a comprehensive and
central water supply providing the ever-growing city with a clean and pure water supply. Spring Hill today, since 1968, has been a "model city" and a "vibrant
community of over 6,000 happy residents in
over 2,800 homes.

NOW -- A NEW GROUND FLOOR OPPORTUNITY IN "THE LAND OF 3 SEASONS"

The Mackle Bros. take pride in presenting
